

DIXON GARDENER, IN ILL HEALTH, TAKES OWN LIFE

CONGRESSMAN VARE WINNER ON WET PLANK

Nominated for Senator by Pennsylvania Republican Voters

Philadelphia, Pa., May 19—(AP)—The nomination of Congressman William S. Vare for senator on the Pennsylvania republican ticket was admitted today by Gov. Pinchot, rival aspirant.

"Mr. Vare has won," the Governor said, "and I have lost."

Senator Pepper's only comment was "I am not going to claim or concede anything until the official count is made."

Returns from 5,174 of the 8,181 districts in the state for republican candidates for governor showed Beldiem leading Fisher by 60,667. The vote: Beldiem, 556,109, and Fisher, 495,442.

Vote Unexpected. Although the plurality of 220,928 given Vare in the city of Philadelphia was responsible for his lead in the state, returning from outlying districts today showed he received a heavier vote than his opponents had predicted for him. Senator Pepper ran first, however, in the totals for the state outside of Philadelphia with Gov. Pinchot second.

In Allegheny County, which includes Pittsburgh, Senator Pepper maintained a lead of approximately 10,000 over Vare, as returns of the county were tabulated. In 1,242 of the 1,405 Allegheny precincts, Pepper's vote was 72,659, Vare's 62,665 and Pinchot's 33,937.

There remain 1,159 districts outside Philadelphia and Allegheny county to report. There are mostly rural districts and the Vare managers indicated no fear that they would seriously reduce the congressman's big margin.

PERSONAL LIBERTY ISSUE

Washington, May 19—(AP)—William S. Vare, said in a statement issued here today that he regarded the result of the republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania as an evidence of the voters' desire "for a return of personal liberty."

HU! HUM! ANOTHER PROBE! Washington, May 19—(AP)—An investigation into all senatorial campaign expenditures this year was ordered today by the senate 59 to 13.

The inquiry was voted after charges of excessive expenditures in yesterday's Pennsylvania republican primary had come from the democratic side of the chamber, and had been denied by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who at first blocked the resolution ordering the investigation.

In the course of the debate, the Pennsylvania senator declared the result in Pennsylvania had been clouded by the wet and dry fight and said he was ready to support a statewide referendum to settle that issue.

Republican old guard leaders joined the Pennsylvania in seeking to prevent action on the resolution which was offered by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri.

Counter Revolt in Poland Continuing

Paris, May 19—(AP)—The Polish general, Haller, who has at his disposal 20,000 men, is preparing to attack Pilsudski who recently overthrew the Polish government, says the Posen correspondent of the Echo de Paris.

He said he did not believe that Pilsudski would eventually meet with success in his movement.

"I have every confidence in the value of the Posen troops," General Haller said. "It will require time to crush the insurrection, but we shall succeed."

PEACE EFFORT FAILS

Warsaw, May 19—(AP)—The provisional government has received a report from M. Thompsonski, speaker of the senate, who was sent to Posen in an endeavor to appease the leaders there who object to the Pilsudski coup. It is understood the report announced failure of the attempt.

The Pilsudski government, however, declares that its difficulties are limited to Posen and asserts it will overcome this in a few days.

PENSION BILL AMENDED

Washington, May 19—(AP)—The government employee pension bill passed by the House after a reduction in the scale of payments to make it accord with the views of President Coolidge was amended by the Senate civil service committee today to make the payments more liberal.

As revised the bill would grant a maximum retirement annuity of $1,000. The Senate committee made it $1,200 to conform with a scale of pay proposed by Senator Stanford, republican, Oregon.

ALLEGED SALE OF POISON BOOZE BROUGHT RAID OF AN AMBOY FARM

An investigation into the sale of alleged poison liquor to Amboy youths led to a raid on the Philip Groth farm about six miles southeast of Amboy last evening when four deputies from the sheriff's office made an unexpected call. From reports it was indicated that there was little liquor found but a copper still is said to have been brought to Dixon, having been found in the house on the Groth farm. Groth and a nine year old boy giving the name of Melvin Buckston of Dixon were also brought to Dixon by the officers late last night. Groth being lodged in the county jail and the boy being taken to his home at 501 Madison avenue. State's Attorney Mark C. Keller is investigating the boy's case today.

The raid on the Groth farm was the outgrowth of the alleged poisoning of Amboy young men over the week

EXPLORER, NOW IN DIXON, PLANS FOR DANGEROUS TRIP

To Leave New York in June for Journey Thru Greenland

There is every indication that the Family Theater will be well filled this evening and again at matinee and tomorrow night to hear Dr. John W. Ruskin, surgeon, photographer and lecturer; a member of four Arctic Expeditions into Northern Greenland.

In an interview this morning by The Telegraph Dr. Ruskin said: "We are leaving New York City about June 1st in a vessel named after our old boat, 'Neptune II,' headed by Capt. Robert Bartlett as our ice navigator. Our vessel is now being fitted with proper radio equipment, three new engines and we will take two Pooker planes. Our object is not to try to fly across the pole but to make our base at Annatok, Northern Greenland and then attempt to fly from the west to the east coast of Greenland; something that has never been attempted before. We believe in the interior of Northern Greenland there are solid mountains of ice reaching their heads three to eight and ten thousand feet," continued Dr. Ruskin.

May Find Graves in Ice
"It will be my purpose to induce my companions to take on board our big three-engine plane, half a dozen Eskimo dogs, so that in case we are compelled to make a forced landing, and lose our food, if our dogs and selves escaped unhurt, we can at least have something to eat for a month or two, enabling us possibly to keep alive until relief may reach us, by the supply plane. It will be of great scientific value to definitely determine what really exists in the center of Northern Greenland, whether human, animal or bird life, however, we may be like Andrea and his balloon, we may leave Annatok, but not reach the Eastern Coast of Greenland and just add our names to the list of three hundred and seventy good fellows who have found graves in the Arctic ice," continued the Doctor.

Dr. Ruskin's motion pictures cover all of the wild animal, bird life and vast ice fields of Northern Greenland and it is the general opinion of many that they have heard him talk at the various schools and clubs in Dixon that his entertainment will attract large crowds.

Dr. Ruskin today made a fine concession to the high school pupils of Dixon, in cutting for them the price of admission to his travels in half.

Doubtless most of the students in the local high schools will take advantage of his generosity and get first hand information of the Arctic and its life from one who had been there.

Dixon Water Works is Written Up by Journal

The current issue of Waterworks Engineering, a National publication, contained a long account of an address on the Dixon Water Co. system, delivered at a state convention by Attorney Henry C. Warner, president of the local company. The publication also published pictures of equipment at the Dixon pumping station, including a 200 horse power electric motor which operates the large pump, a 50 h. p. motor operating a smaller pump, a 300 h. p. 8 cylinder gasoline engine in reserve and an air compressor operated by a 75 h. p. motor. Mr. Warner's details of the electrification of the Dixon station were very favorably received by the convention.

DUNDEE VS JAWSON

Davenport, Iowa, May 19—(AP)—Joe Dawson of Milwaukee and Mike Dundee, of Rock Island, are completing training for their ten round bout before the Legion fight club at the Coliseum here Friday night. Dundee is in line for a title bout with Louis Kaplan and will take on the veteran lightweight as his first step toward the title. He is also matched with Ruby Goldstein in New York on June 4.

Refutes Charges Made by Senator Norris of Nebraska

Washington, May 19—(AP)—Summoned from Rumania where he is American minister, William S. Culbertson, former tariff commissioner, today told the special senate tariff investigating committee, that he resigned from the commission because his position had become intolerable, and not because he was either forced off or tempted off.

He defended President Coolidge in his relations with the tariff commission and criticized Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, who brought about the investigation with a series of speeches in the Senate, and Commissioner Costigan for using his private papers without his consent. These papers, he declared, were private and were never intended to be anything else.

Emphatically denying Senator Norris' charges that efforts were made at the White House to cover up his case, he asserted that "the President never so much as intimated that I change my position in the sugar case, and I never did change it."

"The President always respected my view; of course I respected his," he continued. "He never tried to urge me unduly, nor was he at any time a party to the efforts which were made by disappointed applicants and lobbyists to frighten me into a more tractable position on the tariff commission."

HELD UNDER MANN ACT
Omaha, Neb., May 19—Charles Demott of Yates City, Ill., is held here under $1,000 bond on a Mann Act charge growing out of his elopement several weeks ago with Mrs. Maggie Condon. Each is 55 years of age and each has grown families but separated from lawful mates. Demott is alleged to have induced the woman to accompany him here on insurance money received after the death overseas of her soldier son. Part of the money was spent, it is charged, for a grocery store which Demott was operating here when arrested.

FRENCH FORCES ADVANCE

Fez, May 19—(AP)—The French forces have advanced nearly six miles on a twenty mile front in the drive against the Rifians this morning, says an official statement this afternoon.

DIXON SCOUT'S EAGLE BADGE RECEIVED WITH CONGRATULATIONS FROM CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Scout Smith's Award on Display in Sterling's Window

The first Eagle Scout merit badge ever awarded in this section, incidentally the highest award of Scouting, which was recently won by Winston Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of N. Galena ave., and an Evening Telegraph carrier, is now on display in the window at the Sterling Pharmacy, where it is being admired by all of the Boy Scouts of the city—everyone of whom is inspired to make a more determined effort to win a similar award.

The Eagle merit badge was received by Scout Executive Don Cameron of Blackhawk Council, Lee and Ogles counties, yesterday, accompanied by the following letter to Winston from James E. West, Chief Scout Executive.

Chief's Congratulations.
"Dear Eagle Scout:
"It is with great pleasure that I hand you your certificate as Eagle Scout. I want to be among the first to congratulate you upon attaining the highest rank in Scouting. It is an achievement of which you can justly feel proud. It means that that community will recognize you as a distinct asset and as representing the highest type of coming American citizenship."

"I hope you will continue your Scout work, and when you reach the age of eighteen, qualify as Assistant Scoutmaster and eventually as Scoutmaster, thus sharing with other boys the benefits of the training you have had as a Scout."

"Sincerely and cordially yours,
"Boy Scouts of America.
"James E. West,
"Chief Scout Executive."

The award, such as which are possible only where there are Scout Councils, will be presented Winston at a special Court of Honor meeting to be arranged later, which will be attended by Scouts and officers from all the troops in the two counties.

FORMER MEMBER TARIFF BOARD DEFENDS PRES.

William Arnold, a farmer of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Virgil McQuistion, 13, son of a Kenton, Ohio farmer, were killed by lightning while at work. Ten persons in Illinois were injured, two probably fatally.

Resides Purdue, two other universities were in the rain and stormswrecked area. At Urbana late afternoon cases of the University of Illinois were thrown into confusion by the gale, which uprooted trees and blew out windows. Many students feared a repetition of the tornado which devastated southern Illinois, a little more than a year ago. A sports program at the University of Missouri was called off because of the storm.

Veterans in Deluge

A torrential rain which fell at Springfield, Illinois, drenched Illinois veterans of '45 who were starting their annual G. A. R. convention parade just as the downpour struck. In spite of the deluge, a number of the veterans formed lines and marched by the Governor in the reviewing stand.

Pana, Danville, Taylorville and Decatur were among central Illinois communities in the path of the storm. Some orchard and crop damage was reported at Decatur and Pana, and the latter town was without electric lights for several hours. At Danville the fair ground stables and other buildings were damaged. School children in Assumption were frightened when a tree was blown against the school house.

Rain, unaccompanied by wind, which fell in Iowa, was declared of little value to crops. The drought in Kansas was broken by precipitation ranging from one tenth of an inch to 1.8 inches.

Abandoned Car Was Taken from Oak Park

The Chevrolet sedan which was abandoned early Monday morning on the Lincoln Highway at the Burkett school, was stolen early Sunday evening from Forest Park, according to word which was received at the sheriff's office last evening. The car belonged to Armond J. De St. Aubin of Oak Park. Deputies Rose and Richardson who recovered the car, towed it to the county jail where it is being held.

MAY REORGANIZE C. & A.

New York, May 19—(AP)—An informal conference on possible terms for a plan of reorganization for the Chicago & Alton railroad has been held by members of the protective committees representing the road's first 3 1/2 and general 6's. Further conferences will be held shortly. The renewed activity leads to hope in some quarters that an agreement may be reached in a few weeks. It is not expected that the first 3 1/2 will be involved in the reorganization, but it is probable a substantial assessment will be levied on common and preferred share holders for which income bonds will be given.

THREE KILLED IN STORM; DAMAGE OF $500,000 REPORTED

Parts of Illinois and Indiana in Path of Gale Yesterday

Chicago, May 19—(AP)—The first severe wind and rain storm in the midwest this season, centered its wrath on portions of Illinois and Indiana bringing death to three persons, one an aviator, and causing damage estimated at $500,000.

In northwestern and central Indiana and in northern and central Illinois the storm, which struck late yesterday, was accompanied by winds of extreme violence, several houses being overturned, sheds wrecked and roofs blown from buildings. Trees and telephone poles were leveled and communication was hampered.

Fruit trees and crops, especially gardens, were damaged in portions of Illinois by hail.

Near Tornado at Harvey

The storm in Illinois reached its greatest intensity at Harvey, Chicago suburb. There a seventy mile tornado like wind cut a patch two blocks wide and a mile long damaging two score of houses and garages and causing damage of $300,000.

Chicago escaped the wind storm, but was deluged by rain which flooded hundreds of basements.

Considerable damage was also done near La Fayette, Ind. where telephone poles and garages and barns were wrecked. The storm in that area centered at the Purdue University experimental farm, razing sheds, chicken houses and other structures. Chickens were killed and Indian apolis, but the damage was limited to broken windows.

At Argo, Ill., near Chicago, Ross C. Kirkpatrick, airplane pilot in the Ford Airways Service and his all-metal ship were buried in the ground by the gale. Kirkpatrick, a former Army pilot, whose home was in Detroit, was dead when his wrecked machine was found after the storm.

Lightning Killed Two

William Arnold, a farmer of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Virgil McQuistion, 13, son of a Kenton, Ohio farmer, were killed by lightning while at work. Ten persons in Illinois were injured, two probably fatally.

JOHN HELFRICH, 67, SHOT SELF IN HEAD TODAY

Abandoned Garden Tools for Rifle to End His Worries

John J. Helfrich, aged 67, suicided this morning at his home east of the city on the River road, by shooting himself in the head with a 32 caliber rifle, while despondent over ill health. Mr. Helfrich had been ailing for the past several months and his illness is believed to have affected his mind.

About 9:30 Helfrich was working in his garden, when he dropped his garden tools and walked to the barn, where he secured the rifle, loaded it and fired one shot into his head, the bullet entering under the lower jaw and passing into the brain. Mrs. Helfrich was working in a garden patch a short distance from the barn and heard the shot. She started toward the barn and discovered her husband's body on the ground, his head in a pool of blood which flowed freely from the gaping wound.

He was hurried to the Dixon public hospital, where he died shortly before 11 o'clock without having regained consciousness. The body was removed to the Preston mortuary where Coroner F. M. Banker will conduct an inquest at 7:30 this evening.

Mr. Helfrich had resided east of the city for years and was very well known. He had entertained suicidal notions for the past few days, according to members of the family, who stated that he talked of his condition of mind Sunday evening and expressed his intention of taking his life, if left alone.

CHILDREN WILL BE BIGGER IN A GENERATION

Correct Diet to Bring About Larger Race, Experts Say

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19—(AP)—Sons will outlive their fathers in height and weight and daughters will top their mothers by a generous inch or two, in the opinions of two nutrition experts attending the National Health Congress here.

"Longer and stronger bones, better muscle tone, clearer skin, brighter eyes, are some of the results of correct nutrition that we are already beginning to observe in children study," Miss Miriam Birdseye, extension agent in nutrition of the United States Department of Agriculture, told The Associated Press.

"The gain of an inch in height and a corresponding gain in weight may be looked for in the next generation because of our better diet habits," said Dr. Samuel J. Crumrine, general executive of the American Child Health Association.

TO SIGN TEACHERS' BILL

Springfield, Ill., May 19—(AP)—Governor Len Small was expected to sign the Chicago compulsory retirement of teachers bill late this afternoon, in the presence of a delegation of Cook county school principals.

The bill was passed by the 1925 legislature, but was lost in the mass of bills going through the closing hours and it was only recently discovered that the bill had not been signed.

EXTENSION OF PAVING NORTH OF RIVER CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL

The board of local improvements of the city council in session last evening inaugurated plans to extend the paving program in Dixon this year. Practically all of the new paving, which is now provided for in local improvement ordinances, is to be spread on streets on the south side of the river. There have been many requests for new permanent streets on the north side of the river as well, which has led to the board's action today.

The most important of the proposed measures was discussed lengthily at last evening's meeting of the board which followed the regular council session. This movement would result in the paving of West Chamberlain street from Galena avenue to the entrance of Assembly park with either brick or cement, this to be left to the selection of the property owners.

The city engineers were instructed

SUSPECTS SEEN BY DIXON MAN LATE TUESDAY

Sought-for Strangers Headed for Lost Nation Then

The search for two men believed to be escaped convicts from the Stateville penitentiary continued in Ogles county yesterday in the vicinity of the Lowden Sinsissippi farm. Sheriff S. N. Dodson stated this morning that the men had doubtless secreted themselves after their food raid on the Harry Wilson farm, five miles southeast of Oregon.

Ward Miller of this city, who was gleaning on the Daysville road south of Oregon Monday afternoon reported this morning of having seen the two suspects cross the road, going from east to west. His description of the pair tallied with that furnished the Oregon sheriff's office Monday afternoon by Mrs. Wilson and her daughter.

Mr. Miller reported seeing the two men come out of a timber, cross the Daysville road and start toward the Rock river in the direction of that part of the country which is known as Lost Nation. This information was reported to the Ogles county sheriff this morning and was to be investigated further.

Open Verdict Found in Brakeman's Death

Coroner Frank M. Banker of Franklin Grove conducted an inquest over the remains of Louis A. Bashina, Chicago & Northwestern railroad brakeman at the Jones funeral home yesterday afternoon. The jury after hearing several witnesses returned an open verdict, finding that death was due to injuries sustained in a fall from a moving car. In the testimony, however, it developed that the run way on top of the car was in a bad condition and several of the witnesses testified that in their opinion the deceased stepped on the defective board which caused him to lose his balance and plunge to his death. The remains were shipped to his home at Melrose Park, where funeral services will be held Friday.

MAMMA'S KISSES—

A kiss when I wake in the morning.
A kiss when I go to bed.
A kiss when I burn my fingers.
A kiss when I bump my head.
A kiss when my bath is over.
A kiss when my bath begins.
My mamma is full of kisses—
As full as nurse is of pins.

A kiss when I play with rattle.
A kiss when I pull her hair.
She covered me over with kisses
The day I fell from the stairs.

A kiss when I give her trouble.
A kiss when I give her joy.
There's nothing like mamma's kisses
To her own little baby boy.

Farm Colony for Women Prisoners

Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—The experience of Minnesota in establishing and operating a farm colony for women prisoners was described today to the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs by Miss Florence Monahan, a native of Chicago, who has had charge of the Shakopee, Minn., women's reformatory since it was opened, six years ago. The whole effort of the institution, she said, is to give education in proper living, proper standards of dress, proper standards of recreation. The old practice of confining men and women in the same institution turned them out as bad as they came in or worse, she said. The new method hopes to teach women offenders to work and to take pleasure in work well done. The women prisoners in the Minnesota Reformatory do all the farm and garden work, sow of inmates of other state institutions besides making their own clothing, learn to do fancy work, and enjoy wholesome recreation.

Most of the women who come in contact with the law are lazy, said Miss Monahan, and have committed crimes to get what they could not or would not honestly earn. Sixteen states now have separate reformatories for women, she said, and they are successful in the states where they are freest of politics.

"All forms of severe punishment have been tried by society," said Miss Monahan, "with no effect on the number of crimes committed. Let us try understanding and teaching, which through a longer, harder method, is more logical and hopeful."

Examination of the pre-school child has been taken this year as the major project of the child welfare department of the federation, said Dr. Lena K. Sadler, chairman of that branch of activity. More than 18,000 blanks for the examination of these children have been requested of the state department of public health by club women. Many other children welfare projects have been carried on, said Dr. Sadler, such as provision for milk for school children, provision of scales, dental chairs and playground equipment for schools, and raising of funds for ice, milk and crippled children's needs. The clubs of the federation, she said, are striving for the Illinois Medical Association's $500 prize to be awarded in October, to the club which has done the most effective work in securing the co-operation of civic organizations, newspaper publicity, and in the number of pre-school children examined by physicians.

Alice Etnyre and Francis King Wed

Friends in Ogle and Winnebago county learned today of the marriage of Miss Alice Lucille Etnyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Etnyre, of Adeline, to Francis King, son of Supervisor Frank King of Plaza township, Ogle county. The ceremony having been performed Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian manse in Belvidere by the Rev. Arthur O. Oates. They left immediately for a wedding trip to Madison, Wis.

The bride was graduated from Byron high school and later attended DeKalb Normal. For the past two years she has taught at the Kings consolidated school. Possessed with unusual ability and pleasing personality, Miss Etnyre has a host of friends in the county.

Mr. King is a graduate of Rochelle high school and is in partnership with his father in a farming project in Ogle county.

Mr. and Mrs. King will be at home to their friends in a farm near Kings.

C. C. Circle Had Pleasant Meeting

The last meeting of the C. C. Circle was held Friday evening at the C. E. Hill home, with Mrs. C. E. Hill and Mrs. H. W. Stauffer as hostesses. There was a good attendance.

After a reading was given by Mrs. L. L. McGinnis, followed by a guessing contest, the winners of the first prizes being Mrs. L. L. McGinnis and Mrs. Clark Rickard and the winners of the consolation trophies being Miss Lucille Stauffer and Mrs. B. H. Cleaver.

During the period of music and chat the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

RETURN MONDAY FROM PLEASANT VISIT—

Mrs. G. P. Powell, who enjoyed a visit over the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. Aubrey Shannon Moore of Evans-ton, returned home Monday. Dr. Moore was former pastor of the Methodist church here. Mrs. Powell was accompanied as far as DeKalb by her daughter, Miss Alice Powell, who spent the week-end with her friend, Miss Wanda Kaesser. Mrs. Powell also enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Kaesser, formerly in the millinery business with Miss Bess Eaton, in this city.

Mesdames Palmer and Hart Nominated

Chicago, May 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Geo. Thomas Palmer of Springfield, retiring president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. William H. Hart of Benton, a past president, today were nominated from the floor for director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. In that rivalry, in the election tomorrow, lies the chief contest of the 31st annual convention.

Mrs. Walter W. Seymour of Chicago endorsed by the second district federation and Mrs. John P. Mason of Aurora, legislative chairman, were nominated for state president.

Other nominations were: Second vice president—Mrs. Mary A. Walsh, Murphysboro and Mrs. G. W. Reynolds, East St. Louis. Third vice president (newly created)—Mrs. John C. Hanna, Springfield, retiring president of the 25th district.

The nominations from the floor came as a result of a tense contest yesterday with rumors of modification and bone dry questions under the surface. The usual nominating committee was abolished by a vote of 343 by 143 after Mrs. Palmer had declared that "secret negotiations" had been discovered and the result was regarded as favorable to her.

Supporters of Mrs. Hart, however, declared today that she had a good chance. They insisted she was supported by the 25th district, the 10th district in Chicago, all except a portion of the 13th district which includes Rockford and generous portions of other districts.

The name of Mrs. Palmer was placed in nomination by Mrs. Grant Beebe of Grant Park, while Mrs. Hart was named by Mrs. E. T. Holland of Marion.

Aides of Mrs. Palmer had sought to make the retiring president automatically the general federation director, but that move was squelched without it even being offered from the floor.

Delegates Chosen For Convention

The meeting of the Baldwin Auxiliary, U. S. W. V. held last evening in G. A. R. hall was well attended. Delegates were chosen to the Jackson-ville convention as follows: Mrs. Dora E. Heft, Mrs. Helma Helmeck, Mrs. Lottie Horton, Mrs. Edna Tourtellot, alternates, Mrs. Alice Hemmen, Mrs. Catherine Docter, Mrs. Lillian Miller and Mrs. Irma Miller.

P. N. G. CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY—

The members of the P. N. G. club will meet Thursday afternoon in L. O. O. F. hall. Supper will be served at 6:30. The hostesses for the day will be Mesdames Kennedy, Muzzy, Harding and Heft.

Nations Disagreed on Disarmament Conditions

Geneva, May 19.—(AP)—The United States, Great Britain and Germany appear to be favorable to concentrating discussion at the preparatory disarmament commission's sessions on limitation of tangible armament. On the other hand, France, Belgium and Italy seem fearful to disarm, believing they might be conquered at some time by actually weaker but potentially stronger nations.

The Italian spokesman has made known Premier Mussolini's idea on the question of disarmament saying: "If you do not take account of every kind of potential military strength in a country, then you show a desire to weaken a weak state and strengthen a strong one."

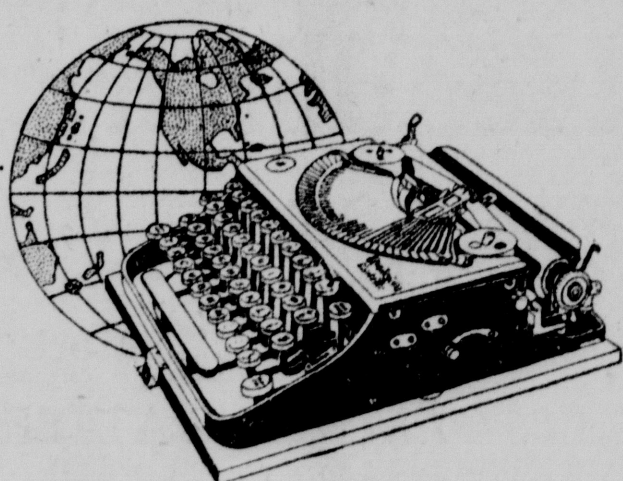

Vote on Farm Relief Bills in House Near

Washington, May 19.—Having approved the most controversial sections of the Haugen farm relief bill the House tomorrow probably will conclude reading of the measure for amendment. Before a vote is taken the Tinscher credit bill and the Curtis-Aswell commodity marketing proposal will be offered as subs. Acting on all three is expected by the end of the week.

The New Keyes Ahrens Method GUARANTEES Better Linoleum Laying

Linoleum floors are only as good as they are laid. The Keyes-Ahrens method of cementing Linoleum firmly down over a layer of special deadening felt insures a permanent floor, one that will neither buckle nor creep, but will give years of satisfactory service.

Advantages

Keyes Ahrens Method
Better Linoleum Laying

1. The linoleum at once becomes a solid, permanent, resilient floor. It cannot buckle, bulge or stretch.
2. The felt foundation, which is pasted to the floor, absorbs all expansion or contraction that may take place in the wood or concrete floor.
3. The felt layer makes the Linoleum more durable, thereby lengthening the life of the Linoleum floor.
4. The possible damage from water when laid by other methods is eliminated when laid by the Keyes-Ahrens Method.
5. It is sanitary because it is non-absorbent, easily cleaned, smooth and free from cracks.
6. Economical both in first cost and in the constant savings in maintenance expense as compared with other methods of laying and types of floors.
7. In most cases the work is completed in one trip, making it unnecessary to return and disturb the room.
8. Linoleum when laid by the Keyes-Ahrens Method can be removed without difficulty or damage should the necessity arise.

Phone 161

and one of our representatives will be pleased to call and explain the Keyes-Ahrens Method in detail, whether you wish to cover your floor with new Linoleum or relay a Linoleum floor which is now bulging and giving trouble.

TIA JUANA'S DEED.

It is a dreadful thing, a thing that happened not long ago at Tia Juana, in Mexico. It is almost unbelievable that it could happen on the North American continent in the twentieth century.

You recall the circumstances how two American girls, sight-seeing in Tia Juana with their father and mother, were drugged and attacked, and how the entire family committed suicide because of their shame.

This would be bad enough if it were an isolated case. But it is not.

Reporters, who have gone to the Mexican border town to investigate, report that such things are not out of the ordinary there. Men have been murdered, women have been assaulted, times without number, and the law has done nothing. Tia Juana, apparently, is about as low a town as there is on the face of the earth.

Indeed, it is charged that the present investigation into the assault on the two girls is merely a whitewashing affair, and that none of the ringleaders will be punished. One or two men without friends or influence may be shot to satisfy American indignation, it is added, but nothing more seems likely.

All of this, at first glance, is almost enough to make one wish that it were possible to send a regiment or two of American soldiers down across the border to hang a few score scoundrels and make the town of Tia Juana an example for all time.

Almost enough—but not quite.

There will be talk of that kind, never fear. Those people who have always wanted this country to ride roughshod over Mexico on every pretext will have new fuel for their fire now. We will be urged to extend a little Christian civilization to our benighted neighbor—at the point of the bayonet.

But before you get too indignant over it all, just remember that it hasn't been such a terribly long time since things similar to the outrage of Tia Juana could have happened in almost any large American city.

Recall Chicago's tenderloin of two decades ago, San Francisco's Barbary Coast of the days before the fire, New York's Bowery of fairly recent date. Deeds just as foul and revolting as anything Tia Juana can show were commonplace in those neighborhoods.

It is terrible that such a plague spot should exist at our very door. But it is not an excuse for intervention or warlike talk.

Mexico has had a stable government for only a few years. We have had one for a century and a half, but it was only recently that we cleaned out all our sink holes—if we have them all cleaned out.

This government can properly ask the Mexican government to push prosecution of the guilty in this last outrage. It can properly do little more.

Meanwhile, no American tourist is required to go to Tia Juana.

ODDESSEYS.

The superintendent of the Wisconsin Historical Society waxes elated over the discovery of certain historical records touching on the career of the city of Kenosha nearly a century ago. He urges the city to establish its own historical society and keep stories and relics of its early days.

It is an admonition that every town in the country might heed. There are unnumbered Oddesseys in the tales of our cities and towns, each built by sacrifice and self denial, each the dream of brave men and women who were willing to be pioneers.

It is a great thing for a town to know its own history and be proud of it.

Be careful with your wishing. You very often get just what you wish for others.

From the general rush for the North Pole our guess is some man from Florida is up there selling real estate.

The Bald Head Club of America held a convention in Bridgeport, Conn., and no doubt some hair raising stories were told.

In Spokane, Wash., a pawnbroker shot somebody instead of somebody shooting a pawnbroker.

"American Fete Postponed," says a headline over news from London. We often wish we could postpone our feet.

Just to show how scarce marrying men are, in Boston, a woman married the same man three times.

About a thousand barrels of beer found on a Dutch ship was dumped into the ocean and here it is almost summer.

There would be more family fights if a woman could smell her husband's breath over the telephone.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 15—THE MIXED-UP BALLOON MAN

"Balloons, balloons, a bunch of balloons. They all go a-popping the loveliest of tunes."

The next person the Twins and the lead pencil?

Whiffet met was the Balloon Man.

"Balloons, balloons, a bunch of balloons," he sang.

They all go a-popping the loveliest of tunes."

He sang, "Six times two and four more make seven. I've sold nineteen today."

"Say," said Nick, "That's not the way to count. You're a mixed-up balloon man."

"They didn't have that in my room," said the Balloon Man. "One a penny, two a penny, hot cross buns!"

Here he jerked his head and snapped his fingers. "I mean, balloons, balloons, a bunch of balloons."

You see, I worked for the Muffin Man at Easter time and now I'm working for the Circus Man. I get my speeches all mixed up."

"Say," said the little flagging fairy, "No one seems to notice me at all, and I'm the most important. Mister Balloon Man, did you see my shadow?"

"I lost it crossing the stile," said the Balloon Man, looking at the Whiffet closely.

"Did your shadow have a necktie, and big pockets, and ears that stuck out?"

"Yes, yes, yes," said the Whiffet. "That's mine. Did you see it, sir?"

"No, I didn't," said the Balloon Man. "I was just asking," and he started to call out at the top of his lungs:

"Water creases! Water creases! Who'll buy creases today?"

He snapped his fingers again impatiently. "There I go again!" he said. "I worked for the Huckleberry Man and I call out creases every spring. If I don't watch out, the Circus Man will lose me and I'll lose my job. By the way, has anyone a confirmation, and honestly, I don't know what to tell you."

I said this, for in my own soul I knew I had encountered a bigger question than I could answer for anyone other than myself. It was one of those questions that each individual must decide and does decide in spite of any and all advice.

Was what Mamie Riley had to give to the world of greater value than what she had to keep for herself? Is a person's accomplishment a bigger thing than the one who accomplishes it? I did not know.

The one thing I did know, however, was that I was inexpressibly tired and looking into Mamie's face I saw that it was as drawn and weary as I felt my own to be.

Putting my arms about her I said: "Come on, Mamie. Let's go to bed. I don't believe in all this city there are two girls who have had such an exciting day."

As we started out the doorway, Mrs. Riley almost fell upon us. It seems that she had been awakened and had come down to the little sitting room and had listened. She had just got the last of the conversation. She had heard enough to know that her daughter had again met Buddy Tremaine.

Very dramatically she barred our way and started to harangue us especially me, with all the venom of a virtuous Irish woman whose one idea in life is the chastity of her daughters.

She laid all the blame upon me for this interview with Buddy, although the first I had heard of it was when Mamie had told me of it about twenty minutes before.

"You get out of the house, Julia Dean, immediately. I'll not have the likes of you talking to my daughter."

"Mother, mother," remonstrated Mamie. "You mustn't say that. You can't turn her out this time of night. Judy has done nothing except get nearly murdered today."

THE VERY IDEA

DAILY BREAD

The great wheels of industry spin on around, and give an impression that everything's sound. The whistle that calls men will toot every morn, announcing a new day of hard toil is born.

The maestro of menfolk who work to create, turn in, and turn out things the whole world calls great. We boast of achievement, of progress and power. We marvel at new things created each hour.

We look to the side that the world moves along, and fights its way through things that, mayhap, go wrong. We take it for granted that progress can't stop. We say that through work, men can come out on top.

But—come down to earth—what's the fight all about? What interest has man in the things he turns out? In truth, if you face it, the average man's led to toil on and toil on—for what?—daily bread!

A corking good time is one thing—and an uncorking one is something else again. The original "wise-cracker" was the one that hid in the corner of the bread can so nobody would eat it.

MOTHER—Why, Tommy! You've taken half that piece of bread in one bite.

TOMMY—You said a mouthful, mother!

"You'll get a ring," he promised her, "if you will be my own."

And when she said, "I will," he simply called her on the phone.

This is the season when the man who is too darn lazy to move, is saved the trouble of looking for a new home.

After all, doing things right is half as much trouble and twice as much fun.

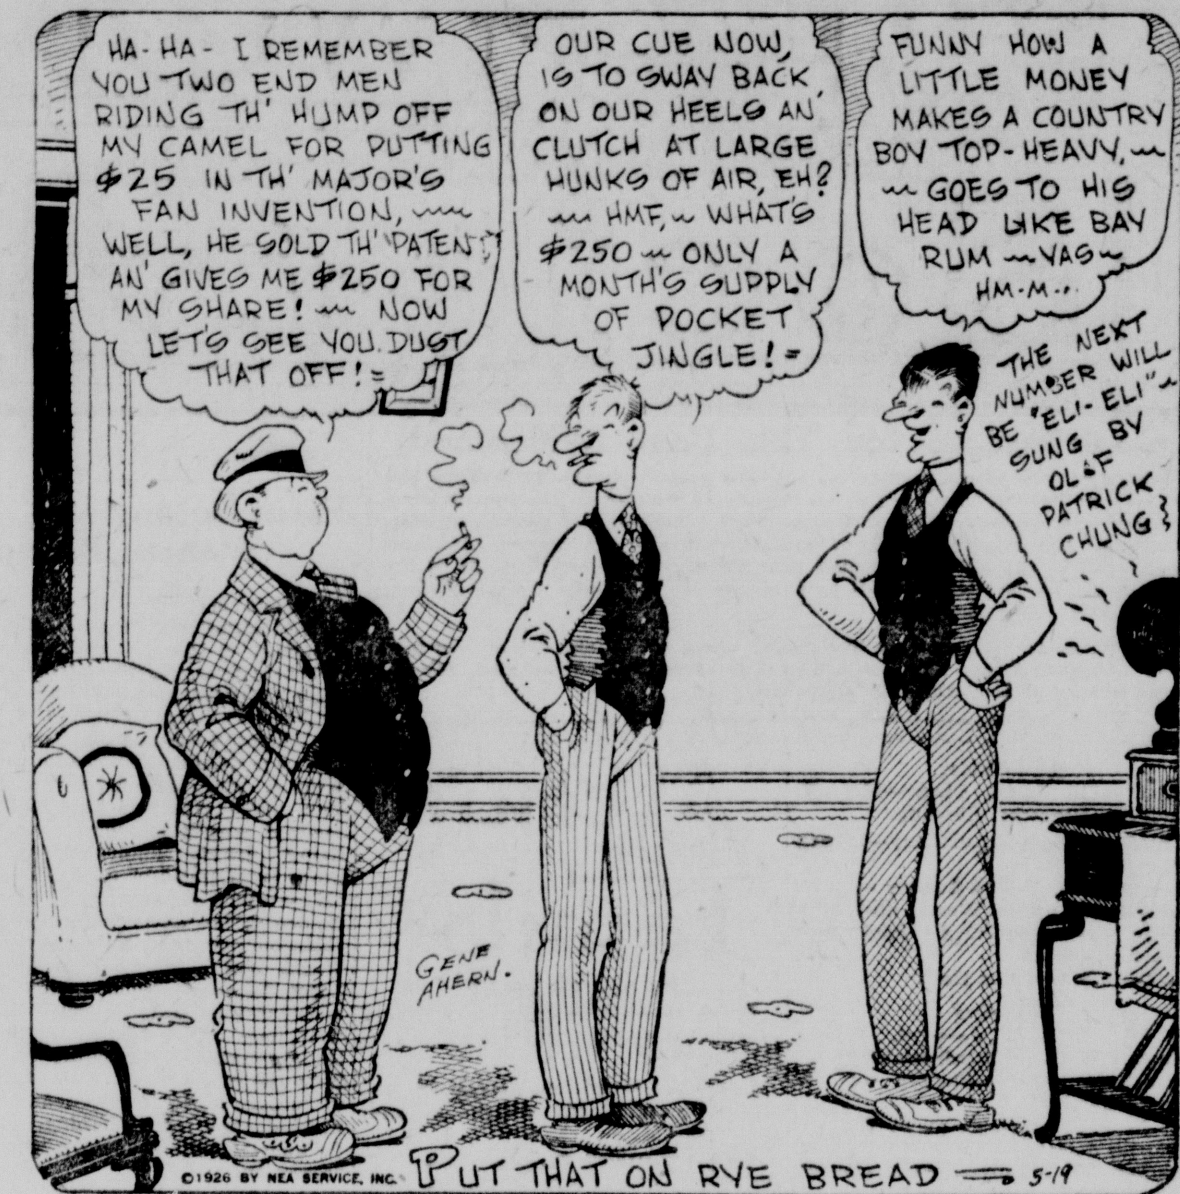

It's pretty hard to keep your anger bottled up sometimes, when there are so many people hanging around with corkscrews.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS CLOSED SEASON ON GRAPPLERS NOW DECLARED

Strong Men Released to Move Pianos and Do Other Heavy Work

Chicago, Ill., May 19—(AP)—The sports calendar has now entered upon the closed season for wrestlers, releasing a great aggregation of strong men suitable for truck driving, piano moving, or other heavy work.

The neck twisters and toe tweak-begans to pack up when the umpires called the baseball athletes into action, and were blown clear out of the public prints by the bugle which called the Derby candidates to the post at Louisville.

While a complete audit is not available, it is believed that the season of the horse breakers has been one of success financially, judging from the attendance and receipts figures published. Some of the boys have been planned to the mat often enough to have callouses on their shoulder blades as big as waffles.

Looking back over the performance of our best known leverage experts reveals few high lights, if any. The same two strong boys are claiming the heavyweight title, Strangler Lewis and Joe Stecher.

Without entering into the merits of their claims there is no doubt that Strangler Lewis is the champion of Wayne "Big" Munn, the mat connoiseur. Munn also found the canvas when he made another try at leather-pushing. Andre Anderson stretched him for a one-fall match with one jab on the chin.

Joe Stecher went along nicely flopping an egg here and there, until a mysterious incident in Boston. He leaped out of the ring when Joe Malowicz entered to tug with him in one of those "unknown" shows. Stecher has previously defeated Malowicz and explained his action by saying he did not get his money in advance, and that he was being framed.

"Who is that gorilla?" Toots Mondt also had an experience with the police at Kansas City. He was wrestling Ivan Somelody, and one or the other tried to pull off a toe, and they told it to the judge the next day.

Johnny Meyers, the middleweight champion, wound up his bone bending season by cracking the ankle of Lou Talaber in a Chicago bout.

It has been an active winter for all of the lesser fry, the majority of them

RECRUIT HERO OF YANKS' DRIVE ON COLLINS' VICTIMS

Homer, With Bases Full, Won from White Sox in the Eighth

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hero of the major leagues today is Antonio Lazzeri, late of the Salt Lake City club of the Pacific Coast League. With Holl's Thurston right handing an approved sort of baseball for the Chicago White Sox at the Yankee Stadium yesterday, Tony appeared at the plate in the eighth with three friendly figures dancing about on the paths imploring him to live up to his minor league reputation and win the Yankees' seventh straight game. Tony hit to the far left center wall and chased his mates across the plate for a 5 to 3 victory. The belt gave the Yanks a lead of three full games in the American League.

Sherrod Smith southpawed the Cleveland Indians to a conquest of the Washington Senators and Walter Johnson, 4-2, two errors by McNeely in center field for Washington doing much damage.

Errors also figured largely in a 3-0 victory for Detroit over Philadelphia with Connie Mack using 13 of his hirelings in an effort to stem the tide.

Charley Robertson, who once pitched a no hit, no run game for the White Sox, now appearing for the struggling St. Louis Browns, proved easy for the Red Sox, Boston winning 6-3.

The National League's only battle left Pittsburgh and Brooklyn in a 4-4 tie, after nine innings, the second tie in two days that rain brought a deadlock between the teams. McWeeny of Brooklyn, who had pitched 20 scoreless innings, permitted a run in the second.

Aurora, Ill., May 19—(AP)—The horse racing season in Illinois opens tomorrow at Exposition Park, four miles north of here. The meeting will last 27 days. Purses hung up total $200,000. Entries number close to 1,000.

On each day's program there will be six races, one for $800 and the others for $1,000, except for a daily handicap feature which will pay from $1,200 to $3,500.

Speculating on the races will be on the certificate investment plan which was inaugurated at the Exposition Park track in 1923 and has been followed since. Under this system, the person invests in the horse he favors and his investment is added to the purse. If the horse runs in the money it's "earnings," that is, its share of the purse and money it has won for investors, is divided among the investors in the proportion that the individual's investment bears to the total. The certificate investment plan has been dubbed the "Aurora Plan" and has been adopted by a number of tracks over the country as a means to avoid conflict with gambling laws.

A new system of drainage has been laid under the track which will enable the course to dry out rapidly after rains. Eighty five Kitchennette apartments for horsemen have been built on the grounds since the meeting last fall.

Sidelights

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gerber, the Browns shortstop who has been on the casualty list for some time, returned to the lineup against the Red Sox and made five assists and one putout and figured in two double plays.

Earl Sheely, star first baseman of the White Sox, hurt his foot during Monday's game and Harry McCurdy, former University of Illinois player, got a chance to work at the initial sack. The few chances he had handled like a veteran and cracked out a double which sent Collins home.

Joe Tinker, famous shortstop of the old Cubs machine, is carrying around packages of clippings telling of the great playing of Joe, Jr., who is second basing for the Orlando, Florida, State League.

Babe Ruth failed to connect against Thurston of the White Sox. However, his record of 12 homers so far this season is equal to his mark established in 1921 when he cracked out 59 homers.

Bob Shawkey of the Yaks, will be out of the game for several weeks, two of which will be spent in the hospital for an operation on his right foot. The foot was hurt some time ago, but he continued to take his turn on the mound, until infection developed.

Helma Groh, former New York Giant, won the game for Toledo against Columbus yesterday, when he drove in the tying and winning run with a double in the ninth inning.

RELAY RACE TO BE HELD TODAY; COMING EVENTS

Three Big Meetings at North Side Field in Ten Days

The relay race between the Dixon and Sterling high schools to have been held yesterday afternoon was postponed on account of the rain. The coaches of both schools, however, arranged to hold the meet this afternoon.

Coach A. C. Bowers this morning announced three important events to be staged at the north side athletic field within the next ten days. Negotiations have been completed for two dual track meets with the Amboy and Sterling schools. Coach Diminetti of Amboy will bring his squad of athletes to Dixon for a dual meet to be staged Saturday of this week, while Coach Eades of Sterling will accompany his gladiators to the north side field Tuesday afternoon of next week for another dual meet. The season of athletics will conclude a week from Saturday with the annual Rock River conference meet to be held here.

A screen test has proved satisfactory and Paddock said he was considering several offers.

Housewives, Smokers

Blamed for Many Fires

Springfield, Ill., May 19—(AP)—Careless housewives and careless smokers ran a close race for first place in helping pile up the fire loss in Illinois for April, according to the official report of State Fire Marshal John G. Gamber. Hot irons were responsible for the largest loss due to any of the known causes, $122,747, while matches and smoking caused the next largest loss, $123,877. Mr. Gamber states that most of the losses under the heading "hot irons" occurred because the electric irons are careless by left with the current turned on. The total loss for April in the state was $2,129,346. This brings the losses in the state for the first four months of the year to $11,517,176. Other causes of large losses were: defective and overheated flues $119,450; sparks on combustible roofs $11,099; electricity $66,993; exposure $55,384; petroleum and its products $51,100. Of the total loss in the state $839,434 was in Cook County and $750,380 in the City of Chicago.

WOMEN ASKED TO BRING CHANGE IN P. M. APPOINTMENT

Present System Called Relic of Discredited Spoils System

Chicago, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Calling the present system of appointment of postmasters a "relic of the discredited spoils system," William C. Deming, president of the U. S. Civil Service Commission at Washington, today expressed the hope that the women's clubs of the country would build up so strong a sentiment for bringing postmaster appointments under the merit system that no representative or senator would dare ignore the issue.

Mr. Deming's address was delivered here this afternoon before the 31st annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Reviewing the part that the women of this country had played in the establishment and functioning of the federal government, Mr. Deming said:

"From the earliest dawn of recorded history woman has been the saving influence in the home. Today she is all of that and more. In our modern complex affairs, modified by pressing economic standards and needs, woman has become also an effective influence in social and political life.

"In view of all this, and in the light of present conditions, it seems a bit strange that not until 1862 does the name of any woman appear upon the federal pay roll in Washington.

"In that year Francis E. Spinner, Treasurer of the United States, appointed Miss Jennie Douglas to cut and trim United States currency, work that was done with shears and by hand. It is recorded that General Spinner remarked of Miss Douglas, 'Her first day's work settled the matter in her behalf and in woman's favor.'

"It was many years before women became a factor in official life. They have since made it possible for women to point to the proud record that they have more than 50,000 federal employees scattered throughout the country.

"The merit system in Federal employment is no longer an experiment. Nine states and 225 cities now have a classified civil service system for employees.

"There is yet, however, much to be done, and I know of no body of citizens so able to get results as the organized women of the respective States.

"The prohibition forces are on a fair way to be brought under the merit system, but all first, second and third class postoffices are still outside the pale.

Ohio News Notes

Ohio—Miss Mary Ellen Finn, who had been in poor health for some time, passed away last Monday afternoon at her home northeast of town. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Kerin, were held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Wednesday morning and burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

James Haines of Rock Falls was a business visitor in town Wednesday. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Anderson on Thursday May 6, at the Perry Memorial hospital in Princeton.

Does Your Back Ache?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Dixon Folks.

Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Dixon folks.

Mrs. A. Bates, 506 W. 1st St., Dixon, says: "Bearing down pains in the small of my back bothered me when I first got up in the morning. I just felt lame and stiff all over. Catches across my kidneys felt like the edge of a knife sticking in me and made me feel all out of sorts. The kidney secretions were scanty. After using Doan's Pills I was soon rid of the trouble."

END BUNION PAIN FOREVER

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask all druggists, or any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.—Adv.

IVANHOE—

THE STORY THUS FAR—The scene is the England of Richard I. A party of knights, en route to a tournament, visits Cedric the Saxon, their leader, Brian the Templar, incurring Cedric's wrath by his admiration of Cedric's daughter, Rowena. One of the party, disguised as a palmer, or wandering friar, leaves the castle, rents armor and horse from a Jew and wins the tournament, overthrowing the famous knight. Bois Guilbert. He crowns Rowena queen of love and beauty and sends Gurth, his squire, to pay the Jew for the armor. Gurth is held up by Robin Hood's men, who release him when they learn the palmer employs him. The palmer wins the final event of the tournament, aided by a strange knight. A strange knight in black armor, who helped him win the passage at arms, wanders through the forest and sups with a Friar Tuck, a Robin Hood's band, in a lonely hut. This knight is really King Richard, disguised while he marshals his forces against his usurping brother, Prince John, who thinks him in the Holy Land. As the two sit in the hut they are joined by Robin Hood in disguise. Meanwhile Bois-Guilbert and De Bracy, with other knights, capture Cedric and Rowena. Gurth and Wamba, two of Cedric's servants, bring the news to the hut. Bois-Guilbert tells De Bracy he does not want Rowena, preferring Rebecca, a Jewess.

DE BRACY AND BOIS-GUILBERT, AT THE HEAD OF THEIR MEN, PROCEEDED WITH THEIR CAPTIVES UNTIL THEY CAME TO TORQUILSTONE, FEUDAL CASTLE OF SIR REGINALD FRONT-DE-BOEUF. THERE THE PARTY ENTERED AND THE PRISONERS WERE ASSIGNED TO VARIOUS APARTMENTS.

CEDRIC AND ATHELSTANE WERE TOGETHER, AND WHILE CEDRIC FUMED AT HIS IMPRISONMENT AND WONDERED AT WHAT RANSOM THEY WERE BEING HELD FOR, ATHELSTANE SEEMED MORE CONCERNED ABOUT THE STATE OF HIS STOMACH, FOR HE WAS VERY HUNGRY. FINALLY MASKED SERVANTS CAME, BEARING FOOD.

CEDRIC TOLD THEM THERE WAS NO NEED FOR DISGUISE—HE KNEW THEY WERE SERVANTS OF FRONT-DE-BOEUF, AND ATHELSTANE DELIVERED A CHALLENGE TO MORTAL COMBAT TO THEIR MASTER. MEANWHILE, POOR ISAAC OF YORK, SEPARATED FROM HIS DAUGHTER, REBECCA, HAD BEEN THROWN IN THE CASTLE'S DUNGEON VAULT.

CHAINS AND SHACKLES WERE ABOUT, AND AT ONE END OF THE CHASTLY ROOM WAS A LARGE FIRE GRATE, OVER WHICH WERE STRETCHED SOME TRANSVERSE BARS, UNQUESTIONABLY AN INSTRUMENT OF TORTURE. THE WHOLE APPEARANCE OF THE PLACE MIGHT HAVE DAUNTED A STOUTER HEART THAN ISAAC'S. SOON FRONT-DE-BOEUF ENTERED, WITH TWO SARACEN SLAVES.

Band Concert Part of Entertainment U. C. T.

The Boys' Band is anxious to add to the entertainment of the U. C. T. convention during the next couple of days and have arranged to give the open air concert tomorrow evening at 7:30 on the Court House lawn. This is the concert which was to have been given last week but owing to the rain had to be called off. The boys have had several practices for this concert and only hope for good, clear weather, and if that comes, they guarantee to the citizens and the guests of the U. C. T. Convention an hour of real band music.

The concert is given in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce which is making the necessary arrangements regarding lighting, etc. Further announcement will be made in tomorrow evening's paper.

Smiths Swamped North Siders in Games Tues.

Yesterday the North Central and E. C. Smith schools played off their game in the Grade School Baseball League, when E. C. Smith swamped their opponents with a score of 34 to 6. This score does not indicate the brand of ball that was played, as the North Central played a good game all the way through, and had they gotten started, they would undoubtedly have piled up a much larger score. Relfly and Selover pitched for North Central and Collins and Lightner for E. C. Smith, while John Pargett umpired the game.

St. Mary's and South Central will play their last week's game tomorrow evening at 4:15 and it is expected that a close game will be played, for the sponsors of these two teams have been working hard with their boys.

Friday of this week, the regular games are played, South Central playing E. C. Smith at Assembly Park and North Central playing St. Mary's at the Kiwanis Playgrounds.

Ethics of Sports and Business are the Same

The similarity between the ethics of sports and the ethics of business was emphasized by one of the coaches of athletics in Dixon in a recent address at one of the Y. M. C. A. boys' clubs, when he said, "Keep your chin up, your chest out, and both feet on the ground, and play the game of business just as you would football—hard, clean and fair," he said. "Always make good your word. Never disappoint those who depend on you. You can't indulge in the luxury of carelessness and get anywhere. It matters not whether you are in the game of football or in the game of business. It isn't so much the technique as it is the moral fiber or spirit you put into your play or work."

The boys of the local "Y" are constantly having talks of this type made before them and they all have their effect on every boy present. This was evidenced very noticeably the other day when a young boy and his minister called at the "Y" office and in talking with the General Secretary, the boy stated that he had just joined the church and that the lessons and talks that he had received at the Y. M. C. A. had influenced him to a great degree in his decision. In all times we find really great men are God-fearing church men. No one has ever accused them of being effeminate and certainly the boy or man who makes a practice of attending church and Sunday school cannot be classed as a "sis."

Toastmasters Will Hold Final Meeting Tomorrow

The Toastmasters' Club will hold its final meeting tomorrow evening at the usual time, 6:15. A review of all the lessons taken this year in Robert's Rules of Order will be given by I. B. Potter and L. H. Tibbits. Every member in teaching the lesson for the week in parliamentary practice has stated that his has been the most important lesson of the season, but as the President of the Club stated today, this final meeting will be a real test of the whole year and will bring out the most important points of each of these most important meetings during the year.

This being the last meeting, it is expected that a full 100% of the membership will be present. In addition to the lesson, a five minute talk in Public Speaking will be given by Dr. A. M. McNichol, and the stunt will be in charge of L. Leydig.

Kiwanians, Lions Heard Dr. Ruskin

The Dixon Lions club formed an alliance with the Kiwanis club of this city at the regular weekly meeting of the latter organization in the parlors of the Christian church Tuesday noon. President Raymond Worsley, president of the merging body was in charge of the program and explained the purpose of the union. President Amshury of the Sterling Lions club made a short but interesting talk, explaining the ideals and purposes of that organization and congratulated both clubs in this city upon the merger.

The members of both clubs enjoyed a rare treat in the address delivered by Dr. John W. Ruskin, secretary of plorer and traveler, who is in the city for the week in the interest of the Dixon chapter of the Isaac Walton League. Dr. Ruskin gave a very vivid illustration of life in the polar regions among the Eskimo tribes. He assailed the attacks made upon Dr. Frederick Cook upon this explorer's return to the United States and classed him as a person who had been crucified by the press of the country, with relation to his Arctic explorations.

AMUNDSEN WILL RETIRE FRIENDS IN NOME THINK

Think He's Satisfied With Having Reached Both Poles

NOME, May 19.—(AP)—Now that Captain Roald Amundsen has experienced the fulfillment of his lifetime ambitions, to visit both poles and to navigate the northwest and northeast passages, friends here believe his Arctic career is over.

Amundsen is resting since his arrival Sunday from Teller, 75 miles from here where he landed the airship Norge after a flight over the North Pole from Spitzbergen.

With Captain Oscar Wisting, Amundsen holds the distinction of having reached both the North and South Poles. Wisting was chief navigator of the Norge and he accompanied Amundsen when the Norseman discovered the South Pole.

The Norge was somewhat damaged during the landing, when a heavy wind dragged it across the ice of Port Clarence, while the gas chambers were being deflated, members of the party said. A ton of ice had formed on the ship and more than 100 pounds of ice clung to the radio antennae and disabled it for some time after landing.

Dismantling of the Norge is progressing at Teller preparatory to shipment to Italy when the ice breaks up. A steamer is expected here from Seattle early in June.

INTRODUCE NEW OFFICE UNIFORM

These young women are shown in the smocks they wear at the headquarters of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition opens June 1 and continues to December 1 to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of American independence. The girls of the staff have adopted the artist's smock as a precaution against dust and dirt while working. The girls in the picture operate the automatic typewriters which turn out hundreds of letters daily. Each day an average of 5,000 pieces of first class mail is sent to all parts of the world from the Sesqui offices.

Metal Meals Amaze Doctors

A patient at the U. S. Veterans Hospital, New York, has swallowed over six pounds of metal objects; and amazes doctors that he is still alive. Objects identified in the X-ray photo of his stomach are: 1, surgeon's instrument; 2, bed spring; 3, a bolt; 4, bedpost knob; 5, circular piece of glass; 6, nail file; 7, another bedpost knob; 8, padlock.

Newlyweds!

Norman Carroll, brother of Earl, the Broadway producer, has just acquired a bride, formerly Miss Frances Hope Marchand of Baltimore. The camera caught them sealing the ceremony in New York with the first kiss. Later the newlyweds left for a 10-day yacht cruise. Earl Carroll's present troubles with the law seem to sit lightly on Brother Norman.

The Key to Success

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. MAY'S is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. NEIGHBORS' WIVES

ERNEST LYNN, author of THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

A baby girl has just been born to FAY MILBURN. Her husband, JOHN, is a partner in the advertising agency of GRAHAM AND MILBURN. His wife decides to call the baby JUDITH.

Leaving the hospital after his night vigil, John goes to their apartment where he encounters MRS. BIXBY, a gossiping neighbor, whom he detects and whom he overpowers, before she can ask a question, with a rapid-fire recital of information concerning the baby.

Alone in the apartment, he gazes a long time at Fay's picture, promising to be a better husband from then on.

The firm of Graham and Milburn is only two years old and is still small, though the future seems pretty bright. In addition to NATHANIEL GRAHAM, the executive and sales end of the partnership, and John, whose forte is writing advertising copy, there is BRIGGS, an artist, and MISS KNISELY, who serves as stenographer and bookkeeper.

Briggs enters upon John's meditations, and John, spying an appalling flower in the artist's buttonhole, suddenly dashes out of the office, shouting that Briggs had reminded him of something.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER III

JOHN dashed out of the elevator at the ground floor and ran into the florist's shop. He cast a roving eye over the array of flowers banked against the walls and in the glass cases, finally pausing in front of some long-stemmed pink roses.

"I'll take two dozen of those," he ordered, and pulled a roll of bills from his pocket.

"Yes, sir," said the clerk. "Take them with you or send them?"

"Send them." He gave the clerk the name of the hospital. "Deliver them to Mrs. John Milburn's room. Now, how much?"

"Ten dollars, please. Thank you." The clerk was respectful. Ten-dollar orders were not picked up every minute.

"Make it right away," John ordered, and swung out of the shop.

A minute later he was in the cigar store. "I want a box of cigars. Good ones. Fifty, I guess."

The fat man behind the counter beamed. "How good? Got 'em as high as 60 cents apiece." Noticing the other's hesitancy, he went on rapidly. "I can make you a special price of 45 cents apiece if you buy fifty. Real bargain."

John was peeling the roll of bills again. "Well, all right."

Back in his office, he summoned Briggs to his desk. The artist came in from his little room, sleeves rolled up and his soft shirt open at the throat.

"Briggs," said John, "throw away that cigar."

The artist removed the short remainder of his cigar and looked at it in wonderment.

"Here," John laughed, shoving the newly purchased box across his desk. "Have a good one. Your taste in smokes, Briggs, is almost as bad as your taste in flowers."

Briggs, noting the brand, laid reverent fingers on one of the cigars. "Save it for after while," he remarked, "it's the butt of the old cigar back in his mouth."

The office door opened and a man came in. He glanced swiftly at Briggs and Milburn in laughing conversation, then walked toward a desk at the far end of the room.

"Nat," called John. "Come over here."

The newcomer said, "All right, but make it snappy. I'm busy," and walked over. He was a man of medium height and perhaps thirty years, with light brown hair that was thin, a high forehead and rather narrow jaw. His eyes were hooded, like a hawk's.

"I want you to break a rule, Nat," said John. "John was extending the box. Briggs disappeared noiselessly into his room."

"You know I never smoke," the newcomer said unsmilingly.

"Well, this is a real occasion. Gaze upon a proud father, Nat. That's fine, John, fine," said Graham, shaking hands. "How's Mrs. Milburn?"

"Fine. Baby girl. Seven pounds and twelve ounces."

"Well, I certainly congratulate you, John. I'll be anxious to see her." He turned back toward his desk.

"Aren't you going to have a cigar, Nat, and help me celebrate?"

"No, thanks."

"Well, here. Take a couple and give them to a customer."

Some time later he picked up his several pages of scribbled notes and I'll call it a day, Nat," John called out to him. "Need some sleep."

"All right, John," Graham was busy and did not look up.

At that moment, while he hurried down to his car, his mind filled with the wonder of their baby girl, three other babies were being born in Chicago and in a fine residence a childless couple, after a cruel argument, were agreeing on a divorce.

In another end of town two men were having a bitter quarrel in the rear of a soft-drink saloon. One of them, growing infuriated, struck the other a vicious blow in the face and the fallen man pulled out a gun and calmly shot him, thus terminating a bootlegging feud of long standing.

Fate was having her little fling.

Fay had been installed in her own private room. "I thought you'd be here pretty soon," she said after an hour. "We've got $2800 saved up, but we oughtn't put more than $1500 of it into a down payment. We've got to have something for a rainy day. And then Judith, you know, and the hospital and doctor bills."

"Oh, I wouldn't be so cautious, Fay. I cleared $5000 last year and I'll do better this year. We're just getting on our feet. Before you know it we're going to be making real money. And you can forget about your budgets."

Fay said quietly, "I don't believe in spending money before you get it. You think you should earn more than $5000 this year, but you can't tell what accidents may interfere with it. Suppose you got sick? Suppose Nat Graham died or decided to leave?"

"Oh now, don't go croaking, Fay. But about the house. Suppose we don't see anything for $10,000 that we like?"

"Then we'll have to wait until we find one or until we can afford a better one."

John shot her a swift look and then broke out into a laugh. "Little old lady practically herself. Well, say, you're the boss. What you say now. Next thing I know you'll be putting me on an allowance."

"Don't be ridiculous, John. I don't doubt that you should be on an allowance." She glanced significantly at the roses he had sent out, and John, remembering also the cigars, smiled sheepishly.

Fay went on. "I know that money, a lack of it, is at the root of most many unsuccessful marriages. There's no sense in both of us being careless about finances. You won't alter your head about them and I've had the training that more or less qualifies me for the job, so I think both of us can be satisfied."

He patted her hand. "I'm not grumbling, dear. I'm darn glad you've got a head for figures. I guess the family needs some arithmetic in it."

"You might call up the housekeeper we engaged, John, and tell her that we'll need her as soon as I get home. Tell her she can count on starting in about 10 days."

She was going to say more but a nurse entered the room, holding an envelope. "Telegram for Mrs. Milburn."

"Here," said John, holding out his hand. "I'll take it."

moving into the little room occupied by Briggs. There, not far from the artist as he sat at his table, was a small desk with a typewriter on it. John sat down and began working the keys.

This was the firm's creative laboratory. Here Briggs turned out his drawings and made his layouts, and here John, after first roughing out his ideas in pencil, pounded out "selling copy" on his typewriter. The two of them worked in an understanding alliance broken only by the click of the typewriter keys, amid a thick fog of tobacco smoke.

A half-hour passed, and John pulled the sheet of paper out of his machine and walked over to Briggs. "Here's the copy," he told the artist, and started to read it. "Golden treasure hours of childhood are soon gone forever, so fill them to the brim while they last. Make your boy or girl happy with Barker and Williams' toys."

An unruly lock of hair fell down over his eye. He let it stay there until he had finished; then he brushed it roughly aside. "Get the idea?" he asked Briggs.

"Yeah, good copy, too. Here are the sketches, Mr. Milburn. They'll fit pretty well with the copy."

"The copy doesn't suit me yet," said John. "I can't seem to get going today. Lot of rough spots in it. Guess I'll let it go till tomorrow."

He gathered up his notes and went back to the outer office.

He picked up the telephone and gave a number. "Like to speak to Mr. Forbes," he said presently. "Hello—Pat? Baby girl, Pat. Yep. Yeah, everything's fine. Thanks; drop up to the office and I'll give you a good cigar. Just thought I'd let you know. Goodbye."

He used the phone for another half hour to break the news to several more friends. Then he took down his hat off the rack. "I'm going to the hospital, Miss Kniseley," he said. Nat Graham had not raised his head from his desk. "Think money, and you can forget about your budgets."

Fay said quietly, "I don't believe in spending money before you get it. You think you should earn more than $5000 this year, but you can't tell what accidents may interfere with it. Suppose you got sick? Suppose Nat Graham died or decided to leave?"

"Oh now, don't go croaking, Fay. But about the house. Suppose we don't see anything for $10,000 that we like?"
